

11.1 Text-to-text

An example of text-to-text would be translating something in different languages, summarising something, or even creative writing. You can use ChatGPT, Google Gemini, and Anthropic to achieve this quickly. However, these are not the only important Gen AI text-to-text tools.

However, these are not the only important Gen AI text-to-text tools.

For instance, various tasks such as building presentations, chatting with documents, or even building websites can be done better with other specialised Gen AI tools.

This chapter discusses three essential tools for three key tasks.