

You can see that the tool generated images from its own library. In the AI tools slide, Gamma did not name any specific tools since it runs on ChatGPT in the backend, and ChatGPT was the first well-known AI tool. At that time, other AI tools were in the making.

Let's assume that you want to change the image. However, if you don't like any image or its placement, simply change it.

To change the image, you can click on an option called edit, choose a new image. You can even upload your own image or generate an AI one. or upload your own image. You can also generate an AI-based image. It's totally up to how you want to build or change things.
