

Click on ‘Create project’, keep the title ‘Podcast,’ and click ‘Create.’

A good thing about this tool is that you can pick and choose multiple voices. You can create your voiceover using ‘blocks.’ Further, selecting the voice for each block and input the text separately.

Various filters are available to find the perfect voice for your purpose. You can also click on the voice thumbnails to get a preview.

Choose Natalie for the introduction. To select the next voice, choose the filters of conversational voice style and voices tailor-made for podcasts and audio blogs. After some deliberation, Carter was selected for the second block.
