

Then, click on 'Generate Free AI Video.' This prompts you to create an account. Once the email verification process is over, you can start creating the video. The video itself turned out to be pretty good. You can check this for yourself.

Add slides and content alongside the narrator

Synthesia can actually do this kind of video pretty quickly. Some other features of this tool are that it allows you to add slides and add your content besides the narrator.

Now, imagine how much revolution can happen in the e-learning space. There'll be avatars who can talk to you, speak to you, give you advice and do hundreds of things.

At the beginning of this section, HeyGen, which is also a pretty good tool, is introduced. Using that tool, you can actually create your own digital avatar. You must upload a good 10-minute video recording of yours.

HeyGen will then analyse the video recording. And then, you can generate a similar avatar for your own version. But that tool is completely paid for, it's not free. Nevertheless, let's see how it looks.
