

2.3 Conclusion

Conversational AI tools like ChatGPT can do many tasks. They can help you write text, answer questions, translate languages, summarise and organise text in different categories. In addition to this, tools can create content, generate code, synthesise data, and draft dialogues. By practising with these tools, you can complete many tasks faster, helping you save your effort and time.

