

3.3.3 Act as Prompt

In this method, you give a role to your chatbot. For example, if you want to write a social media post, rather than simply asking the chatbot to write one, you need to ask the bot to act as a marketing head who has been working with multiple beauty brands and has quintupled the company's size. Then, you will ask the chatbot to write a social media post about the organic lipstick.

There are many other types of prompting, like a chain of thoughts prompting, which we may discuss in future, but for now, go ahead and try these three prompts and see if you can get the desired results.

3.4 Practical Applications of Prompt Engineering

In this section, you will see the differences in outputs in different prompt scenarios. This will help you get a good perspective on the power of prompt engineering. You can then use the free version of ChatGPT or ChatGPT 3.5 for our purposes.

Let's start with zero-shot prompting and understand its response with an example of organic lipstick. So, write,

This is zero-shot prompting. We are not giving any examples and are just asking the chatbot to provide you with the desired output. The following response was observed by using this prompting method.

Zero Shot Prompting

Can you write me a social media post for an organic lipstick brand

ChatGPT's Social Media Content

ChatGPT

"🚫 Embrace the power of nature with our new organic lipstick collection! 🌿 Made with natural ingredients and vibrant pigments, our lipsticks not only enhance your beauty but also nourish your lips. Say goodbye to harsh chemicals and hello to luscious, eco-friendly lips! 🌸
#OrganicBeauty #NaturalGlam #LipstickLove"

Zero-shot prompting generates immediate responses