

- Payment of adult children's mortgage
- Financial assistance in purchasing a home
- 4. SUPPLEMENTAL INCOME BENEFITS 61%
 - "Forgiveness loans" (those not to be repaid) to adult children
- 5. GIFTS OF INCOME-PRODUCING REAL ESTATE 8%
 - Transfers of commercial real estate to adult children
- 6. TRANSFERS OF SECURITIES 17%
 - Gifts of listed stock to adult children
- 7. TRANSFERS OF PRIVATE ASSETS
 - Gift of ownership (all or part) of family business to adult children 15%

¹ The 222 affluent parents/millionaires included in this analysis all had at least one adult child, twenty-five years of age or older.

I'm as indignant as hell. What am I supposed to do with my money? My daughter's family is having a rough time making ends meet. Do you know about the problems with public school around here? I'm sending my grandchildren to private schools.

It is obvious to us that this grandmother is not completely at ease about providing economic outpatient care to her daughter's family. The real problem is not with the public schools; it is that her daughter's family is in a situation of economic dependency. Mother has difficulty with the fact that her daughter married someone who is unable to earn a high income. Daughter and grandchildren may not be able to live in an environment congruent with Mother's upper-middle-class background. So Mother is determined to enhance the environment of her daughter's family. She contributed heavily to the purchase of a home that was economically out of reach for her daughter and son-in-law. The home is in an upscale area where most of the residents send their children to private schools. The only way her children can stay in such a high-consumption residential area is with heavy doses of Mother's brand of economic outpatient care. But Mother fails to realize that such an