

How can you tell a good seminar from bad? The first tipoff is price. Anything unreasonable is a warning sign that the provider is more interested in making money than education. The second is price again. Be wary of FREE. FREE usually means eight minutes of education and eight hours of up-sell to a higher-priced seminar. Thirdly, who is giving it? Is it a professional speaker? Or someone who actually practices what he or she teaches? Read the fine print. “Johnny Guru’s strategies have made millions!” and then the fine print says, “Johnny Guru will not be in attendance.” Huh? Would you allow an acting surrogate to perform surgery on you if the real surgeon wasn’t available? Fail!

CHAPTER SUMMARY: FASTLANE DISTINCTIONS

- Fastlaners start their education at graduation, if not before.
- A Fastlaner’s education serves to advance their business system and their money tree, not to raise intrinsic value.
- Fastlaner’s aren’t interested in being a cog in the wheel. They want to be the wheel.
- “I don’t know how” is an excuse dismantled by discipline.
- Infinite knowledge is everywhere and it’s free. What’s missing is discipline to assimilate it.
- You can become an expert in any discipline not requiring physical skills.
- Educational recharges can occur within time blocks already allocated for other objectives.
- Organizers of expensive seminars take advantage of Sidewalkers and disenfranchised Slowlaners by marketing empty promises as “events.”
