

If the journey devours 50 years of your life, is it worth it? A 50-year road to wealth isn't compelling, and because of it, few succeed and those who do settle for financial freedom in life's twilight.

The problem with accepted norms of retirement is what you do not see. You don't see youth, you don't see fun, and you don't see the realization of dreams. The golden years aren't golden at all but a waiting room for death. If you want financial freedom before the Grim Reaper hits the on-deck circle, "Get Rich Slow" isn't the answer.

If you want to retire young with health, vibrancy, and hair, you're going to need to ignore society's default "Get Rich Slow" roadmap and the gurus spoon-feeding you the slop in the trough. There is another way.

CHAPTER SUMMARY: FASTLANE DISTINCTIONS

- "Get Rich Slow" demands a long life of gainful employment.
- "Get Rich Slow" is a losing game because it is codependent on Wall Street and anchored by your time.
- The real golden years of life are when you're young, sentient, and vibrant.
