

money isn't even real—just a socially accepted mirage—and that he wants to be poor and not some corporate asshole. This guy tells me that he's left his life behind in order to “find himself,” so he's interning (for free) at this place in exchange for room and board.

Things have been hard since he had to leave his four-year-old son behind—but he needed to “find himself.” After all, life isn't about money; and all he wants is a little house and a horse, like what the neighbors have down the hill. Everyone around the campfire is nodding and commending this guy for being so enlightened. First, I agree. Life is not about money, it's about time—so why are you throwing away 40 hours a week in pursuit of housing (not even money!)? Second, money doesn't change people; it just makes them more of what they already are. Third, that little house and horse down the hill are worth about $1.5 million. And most importantly, you abandoned your son to find yourself? And you aren't making a dime in the process? Who is subsidizing your journey of enlightenment, and the emotional and financial responsibility of your son you left behind? I've run into a series of people lately who hate money and everything having to do with money, but they still want the end result: Free time and the ability to live their dream. I won't even get into how this conversation went when he introduced his politics. Suffice to say, that we (not him) should pay for this guy to have a little house and a horse and someone else to raise his son.

No matter how big or small, dreams have a price, and that price is money, responsibility, accountability, and commitment. Yes, it will cost you money, but how much?

SET YOUR DESTINATION: FOUR STEPS TO STARTING

Your destination is the lifestyle you desire while having the freedom to enjoy it. There are two strategies to hit your destination. The first is a money system in which you amass a lump sum large enough to earn monthly interest that will support your lifestyle needs. The second is a business system that spawns passive cash flow that supports your lifestyle AND simultaneously funds your money system.

To make this happen, you need targets. Specifically, how much money will you and your family need? What is the price for the freedom and lifestyle you want? Find out with this four-step process:

- 1) Define the Lifestyle: What do you want?
- 2) Assess the Cost: How much do your dreams cost?
- 3) Set the Targets: Set the money system and business income targets.
- 4) Make It Real: Fund it and open it!
