

you deserve.” The final commercial was from a credit repair company. “Let us negotiate your debts down to nothing so you can live the life you deserve!”

Notice the common phrase? You deserve. Seriously, what do these people really deserve? Your credit sucks, you don’t pay your bills on time, and you deserve a better life? Grandma rear-ends your car and suddenly you deserve a large cash award from some rich insurance company? You buy a house you can’t afford and now you deserve a lower rate? How does “deserving” suddenly come so easy with no particular effort, like an event raining from the heavens? We’re being methodically brainwashed to believe that we deserve everything without obedience to process, or accountability.

You deserve what your actions earned, or haven’t earned. Being responsible is one thing; being accountable is another. When you’re accountable to your choices, you alter your behavior in the future and take the driver’s seat of your life.

CHAPTER SUMMARY: FASTLANE DISTINCTIONS

- Hitchhikers assign control over their financial plans to others, which effectively introduces probabilities to victimhood.
- The Law of Victims: You can’t be a victim if you don’t relinquish power to someone capable of making you a victim.
- Responsibility owns your choices.
- Taking responsibility is the first step to taking the driver’s seat of your life. Accountability is the final.
