

5,000 pinched for about a month, but I kept telling myself that things could have been much worse.