

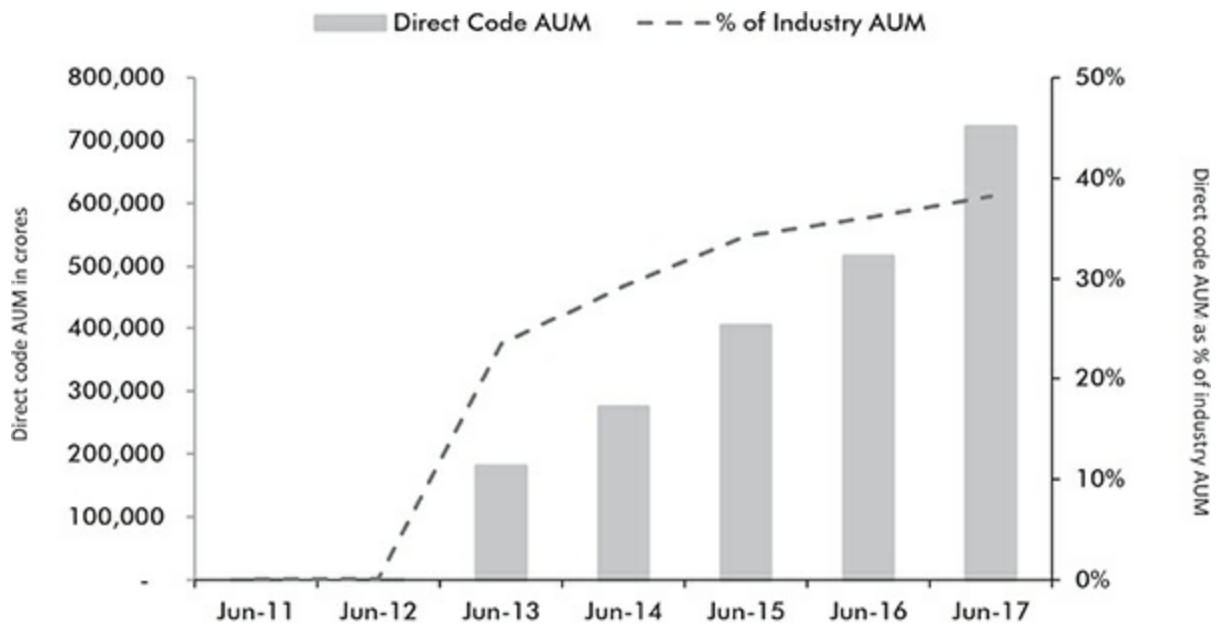

Exhibit 28: Direct schemes are pulling away assets under management from distributors

Source: Ambit Capital, AMFI

Let us revisit the effect of compounding of expenses and show below the difference in return in direct versus regular schemes, assuming 1.5 per cent annual expenses in the former and 2.5 per cent in the latter. We have again assumed 15 per cent annual returns from the underlying investment product.