

those costs becomes the bedrock of our peace of mind and happiness.

Our goals can be bucketed into three categories:<sup>2</sup>

1. Security: These goals are extremely important to us and provide protection from anxiety.
2. Stability: These goals are not as important as the security-related goals; however they ensure that we maintain a desired standard of living.
3. Ambitions: These goals may not be necessities but they help us achieve upward wealth mobility and give us a certain status in our social circle.

Nikhil used the above categorization and helped Mr Talwar organize his goals. This categorization is shown in Exhibit 65.