

Sources of Funds

A company has to source funds to purchase fixed assets, to procure working capital, and to fund its business. For the company to make a profit the funds have to cost less than the return the company earns on their deployment.

Where does a company raise funds? What are the sources?

Companies raise funds from its shareholders and by borrowing.