

What is something you claim you want to do with your money, but haven't done in the last three years?

» What would it take to change that?

What are you afraid people might find out about your finances?
