

3. you rebalance your portfolio and return to your asset allocation, which means sometimes selling some equity when a bull run is raging;
4. a personal situation changes and you reconfigure the box accordingly to suit the change.