

of fulfilling your dreams, achieving your potential, and building a strong financial foundation. Fido gets a yard, you get to travel the world, everyone is happy.

You might even get to have uncomfortable conversations with your friends and family who just don't get it. Why not buy the house on a hill if you can afford it (at least on paper)? Why subject yourself to hard work and hustle when you've spent all this time saving money for a down payment already? You're going to do what with your detached garage?

We're not sorry. Let's dive in!
