Changing your viewpoint, learning to be grateful for what you have and how to look after yourself without relying on the solutions offered by capitalism and consumerism are just as key to your financial wellbeing as the practical steps that you can take towards financial security. If you don't feel capable or deserving of financial wellbeing, you will find it incredibly difficult to get there, so you have to make sure that you are fostering the self-worth and self-respect that you deserve, and enforcing the boundaries in your relationships that will make that possible.
