

3. Fund 3 (International Index Fund): Global reach across international companies

On most platforms, you can find these by searching for the ticker code (which is like a nickname for the stock/fund) or browsing the fund lists. You'll also find fund factsheets that explain what each fund invests in, how it has performed, and what fees apply.

Table 13.1 provides a simple Lazy 3 Portfolio template you can fill in:

Table 13.1: sample Lazy 3 Portfolio

Fund type	Your choice	Management fee	Last 10-year performance
E.g. Bond Fund	VB (not a real fund)	0.03%	11%
Bond Fund
Domestic Index Fund
International Index Fund

Watch out for analysis paralysis — don't stress about picking the 'perfect' fund. Follow the lazy framework and look for broad, low-cost index funds and you'll be off to a great start.

Remember: The best time to plant a tree was 20 years ago. The second-best time is now.

3: Make your first investment

You're ready to make your first investment, this is where things get exciting!

Depending on the platform you're using, the first step will usually involve setting up an account with some government ID (sorry, they just don't want you to launder money), and then transferring money from your bank account into your brokerage account. This is sometimes called the cash
