

involved in managing these diversified service providers can easily outweigh the returns and risk mitigation achieved from this diversification.

You should wait till you become financially free and then you can leave all this to a well qualified and a professional financial planner.

Get the right attitude

Zig Ziglar, one of the renowned inspirational speakers, says:

"Your attitude, not your aptitude, will determine your altitude."

Another famous quote goes like this:

"Whether you think you can, or you think you cannot, you are right."

Psychological research has shown that hard work and persistence after setbacks are typically found with a constellation of other psychological characteristics, all of which prevail among wealthy and financially free respondents.

Some of these characteristics of financially free respondents are listed below. This list is by no means exhaustive or complete. If you possess the right attitude, you will make it through in tough times:

Optimism: Most wealthy persons are optimistic about their own financial future even if the initial results have been disappointing.

Problem solving approach: Wealthy and successful people respond to challenges with problem solving approaches rather than emotional reactions. This results in less stress and more action.

Part of the solution: Wealthy and successful people are always a part of the solution rather than a part of the problem. As soon as a problem arises (which will happen for sure), they start thinking and acting on a solution to it, rather than debating on the problem itself. They do not waste time on thinking on why the problem has arisen, whether they should continue with their goals or not, why they were "chosen" for this problem, what will