

success without luck, just on the strength of his or her ideas, hard work and intelligence is either trying to fool you or fool their self. You definitely need luck on your side to make any idea a success.

However, it is also very wisely said by one of the famous millionaires of our times: "Opportunity is a goddess who does not waste her time with the unprepared".

The bottom line is that no one can ever get lucky if he or she had not been seriously looking out for ways to increase their earning abilities. You have got to give your idea a serious try and even if you fail, it is fine. Imagine if it works. What would be the future of your children, your family and all the people that you can help with the money that you can generate with a successful idea? You would also need luck but you will have to first prepare yourself and try it out. It is not that complicated. Do not be afraid of failure.

Opportunities to earn that additional income and increase your savings by more than 50% are all around you. Be on the lookout. It could be in the form of doing some surveys every month that pay you, it could be taking some weekend coaching classes, or any other idea that you have, based on your strengths and abilities. Go ahead and implement that idea. It can have an unbelievable impact on the speed at which you can be financially free.

Lever 2 : Reduce Your Expenses

While we should continue to give fair attention to increasing our income, we should not be burning all our energies focusing on just this lever. A millionaire always recognizes that the world is designed to take our money. We have been psychologically conditioned to consume and spend. Marketers and salesman are studying your spending patterns and targeting you so that you are inspired to spend more and more. In fact the target is more focussed on the younger generation which does not understand the whole concept of financial planning, savings and financial freedom.

This millionaire mentality can be applied to all aspects of a financial endeavour, from business to personal spending. Remember the amount of money that you save is at least equal to the amount of extra money that you
