

Fig 7.16A : Executive Portfolio Summary - 2014

Fig 7.16B : Executive Portfolio Summary - 2015

Let us understand what the executive portfolio summary from Fig 7.16 can teach us about my investment profile. As I have mentioned, there is a purpose for each dashboard, so let us see some of the immediate conclusions that you can draw from the above dashboard:

1. It tells us clearly that in 2014 (Fig 7.16A), my investment in equity (Stocks + Mutual Funds) is about 17% of my portfolio. The general thumb rule that we have studied earlier says that the equity portion for an average risk taker should be $(100 - \text{age})\%$ which, for me, should be ideally around 60%. So, instantly, I can conclude that in 2014, I was way behind in equity investments and my portfolio was a very conservative one.