

It is well-known that deduction under section 80C is available to an individual in respect of the tuition fees of one's children with an overall limit of ₹1.5 lac. The deduction, however, is not available for capitation fees/donations collected by a school or college. There is another section in the act (section 80E) which provides for deduction in respect of interest on loans taken for higher education.

The educational loan can be taken for any course pursued by the individual or the spouse or children of the individual post the senior secondary course or its equivalent. This deduction is also available for supporting the education of a relative provided the individual is his/ her legal guardian. It is allowed for a maximum of eight years starting from the year in which the interest is first repaid.

Routine Health checkups

Routine health checkups are tax exempt upto ₹5,000 per financial year. Make sure you don't miss out on this. Study Section 80D of Income Tax Act to understand it in depth.

Creating a Hindu Undivided Family (HUF)

If you are married, having an HUF or a Hindu Undivided Family can be a real boon. It is a safe and easy way to save tax.

An HUF, or a Hindu Undivided Family, is a separate tax entity in addition to individual persons who are members of such a family. If you are Hindu, Buddhist, Jain or Sikh, you can have an HUF as a separate tax entity. You can claim all tax benefits under Income Tax.

An HUF is eligible for those exemptions that are available to a resident Indian who is not a senior citizen. It can own property and also have its own business.

In order to infuse capital into the HUF, you have to initiate the following steps:
