

8. They live next door to people with a small fraction of their wealth
(The major portion of their wealth is wisely invested)
9. They are compulsive savers and investors of money... all of which they have made on their own
10. They have confidence in their own abilities

There can be other traits as well but if you look at the above ten traits of self-made, first generation millionaires, what do they tell you? These clearly tell us that it is possible for anyone to become a millionaire and get financially free. Of course, you need to plan it out and then execute the plan, but it is not outside your reach. Imagine the quality of life that you could enjoy if you were financially free. I just want to reproduce some lines here from one of the most simple, yet most powerful, books ever written on the principles of wealth accumulation: The Richest Man in Babylon.

- Money is the medium by which earthly success is measured
- Money makes possible the enjoyment of the best the earth affords
- Money is plentiful for those who understand the simple laws which govern its acquisition
- Money is governed today by the same laws which controlled it when prosperous men thronged the streets of Babylon, six thousand years ago

Once you have understood these simple, yet powerful laws – money will not stay too far away from you.

And I can assure you that once you have "enough" money, you will find enough ways to utilize it the way it is supposed to be utilized. The world looks completely different with enough money in your hands.

Imagine your confidence level in your office or in dealing with a client on Monday morning if you realized that you are not dependent on the monthly pay check that the company gives you or the next contract the client is supposed to sign? The difference would be astonishing. There would be a sense of self confidence and a fearless approach in all your actions - be it at your workplace or your personal life.
