

What are the chances?

Although we can't predict the outcome of our economic decisions, we can calculate the probabilities. The least probable outcomes offer the greatest rewards.