

NORTH AND SOUTH

If you look at a map showing the richest countries of the world, you will see that they are all in the northern hemisphere. The industrialization that made them economically successful spread fast across Europe and North America from Britain. However, many countries in Africa, South America, and Asia lagged behind, and their industries are still struggling to compete.

The 62 richest people in the world have as much wealth as the poorest 50% of the world's population—3.5 billion people.
