

chapter differs because now we will consider different spending rules that will adjust spending in response to portfolio performance rather than in a preplanned way.