

About the Author

Wade D. Pfau, PhD, CFA, is a professor of retirement income in the PhD program for financial and retirement planning at the American College of Financial Services in Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania. He also serves as a principal and the director of retirement research for McLean Asset Management and chief planning scientist at inStream Solutions. He hosts the Retirement Researcher website as an educational resource for individuals and financial advisors on topics related to retirement income planning. He holds a doctorate in economics from Princeton University and publishes frequently in a wide variety of academic and practitioner research journals.

Wade is a past selectee for the InvestmentNews “Power 20” in 2013 and “40 Under 40” in 2014, the Investment Advisor 35 list for 2015 and 25 list for 2014, and Financial Planning magazine’s Influencer Awards. In 2016 he was chosen as one of the “Icons and Innovators” by InvestmentNews. He is a two-time winner of the Journal of Financial Planning Montgomery-Warschauer Editor’s Award, a two-time winner of the Academic Thought Leadership Award from the Retirement Income Industry Association, and a best-paper-award winner in the Retirement category from the Academy of Financial Services.

He has spoken at the national conferences of organizations such as the CFA Institute, Financial Planning Association, National Association of Personal Financial Advisors, and Academy of Financial Services.

He is also a contributor to the curriculum of the Retirement Income Certified Professional (RICP) designation for financial advisors. He is a coeditor of the Journal of Personal Finance. Wade is also a columnist for Advisor Perspectives, a RetireMentor for MarketWatch, a contributor to Forbes, and an Expert Panelist for the Wall Street Journal. His research has been discussed in outlets including the print editions of the Economist, New York Times, Wall Street Journal, Time, Kiplinger’s, and Money magazine.