

there is also much wisdom in the world (I could expand this list to 100). But these are the ones that created that Aha! moment, and have stood the test of time.

Ask yourself: What fundamental ideas are driving your philosophy? How does this inform and shape your investing?

How can we navigate all of these bad ideas that keep coming our way? You need a few tools to help you through the poor predictions, conflicted advice, and marketing nonsense. That's what the first part of the book was about.

In Part 2, we dive into the numbers that drive the markets.

114

Another 2 million get self-published. See: Steven Piersanti, "The 10 Awful Truths about Book Publishing," Berrett-Koehler Publishers (March 1, 2023).

115 Bob Sutton, "Strong Opinions, Weakly Held," Work Matters (July 17, 2006).

116 Charles Darwin, The Descent of Man, and Selection in Relation to Sex (1871).

117 As detailed in Michael Lewis's book, Going Infinite: The Rise and Fall of a New Tycoon (Norton & Company, 2023).

118 David McRaney, How Minds Change: The Surprising Science of Belief, Opinion, and Persuasion (Portfolio, 2022).

119 Marcus Aurelius (a Roman emperor who lived from AD 161 to 180), Meditations (the first recorded mention of Meditations is believed to be CE 364 by Themistius).