OK, we now understand survivorship bias, but what else do we need to know regarding economic models and data series? That's what our next chapter is all about.

148 I've rebuilt a few older cars that were a lot of fun to drive. In 2021, I redid a 1978 Toyota FJ40 in Colombia for my wife (she hated it, and it's since been sold); in 2022, a 1988 Porsche 911 Cabrio (M491) that the prior owner had tracked—I restored it to original stock condition. In 2023–24, I converted a 300,000-mile 1987 Porsche 911 Coupe into an EV. I believe it is the first one in New York, and I get lots of offers to buy it. It's fast as hell, unlike anything else on the road; license plate: EV 911.

Hagerty Price Guide Index, hagerty.com. The Hagerty Price Guide Indexes—first published in 2009 (dating back to 2006)—are a series of stock market-style indexes. Hagerty Price Guides track 1,400 vehicles in four different conditions. These indexes are updated quarterly and provide an overview of how these segments of the collector car market are performing overall, as well as relative to each other.
