

KEY TAKEAWAYS: CREDIT

- Your credit history shows all your past and present lines of credit. It demonstrates how reliable you have been in paying back the money that you have borrowed. You can compare your credit history to a list of assignments in a class and whether or not you completed them on time.
- Your credit score shows how reliable you are to pay back money you have borrowed. It is like your grade for a class. You want the highest score possible.
- The higher your credit score, the more likely you are to qualify for better interest rates. If you have a terrible credit score, you will be offered painfully high interest rates.
- Protect your credit score and pay all of your bills on time! A lower credit score can cost you a lot of money.
